Buenos Aires, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—With the Hipolito Irigoyen government unseated by an army-navy rebellion last night and the aging former president held a prisoner, the movement spread today to a number of other provinces in the republic.

Troops of the revolutionary junta took control of Santa Fe and Rosario, the two principal cities of Santa Fe Province—the Twelfth Infantry holding Santa Fe and the Eleventh occupying Rosario.

Reports from the City of Santiago, in the Province of Del Estero, say that when news of the revolution in Buenos Aires was received 2,000 persons paraded the streets and shouted for the new government. Police attempted to disperse them, but afterward joined the manifestation.

Ran Juan Chief Quits.

Other demonstrations which brought the communities over to the side of the junta were held in the cities of Mendoza and Parana and in La Plata, where Irigoyen is held a prisoner in the barracks of the Seventh Infantry.

In the Province of San Juan, L. Andres Sales, who was the federal interventor in the provincial administration under orders of Irigoyen, anticipated the fall of his government and resigned, leaving a free hand to the opposition. The Irigoyen policy of federal intervention is considered one of the things that brought about his downfall.

Meanwhile the capital is under a strict regime with the leader of the revolt, Gen. Jose F. Uriburu, as provisional president with a civilian cabinet.

Irigoyen Has Pneumonia.

The former president, who is elderly, is both a patient and a prisoner at La Plata. He is suffering from pneumonia, aggravated by the excitement and discouragement which have come to him in the last few days, and has a high temperature. Two physicians were at his bedside all last night, under orders from the new government to give him all possible medical care. He was assured by Col. Giordano, in charge of the provisional troops, that he would be well cared for and guarded against violence.

The story of the former president's adventures yesterday is dramatic. He had kept inside during most of the disturbed week that brought about the outbreak, and after the cabinet ran up the white flag to the oncoming revolutionaries last night no one knew where Irigoyen was. Some reports said he had fled to a cruiser for refuge.

Eventually it was learned the president had dashed from his home in a motor car after receiving word that the revolt had triumphed, loyal police holding up traffic near his home in the Calle Brazil for several minutes. Police on the side of the revolutionaries pursued the car and intercepted it at La Plata, where Irigoyen, so ill he had to be aided to alight from the car, was taken first to the Provincial Capital House and then removed to the infantry barracks for detention.

He asked immediately for a bed and after conversing for a few minutes with the officers present wrote a brief resignation and handed it to the commander of the Seventh Infantry, Lieut. Col. Trueta. The resignation said:

"To the Officials of the Army:
"In the City of La Plata on the 7th day of September, 1930 (it was shortly after midnight when he signed the resignation), I, Hipolito Irigoyen, constitutional president of the republic, in view of what has occurred today, present my resignation as president."

No less dramatic was the resignation of the former vice president, Dr. Enrique V. Martinez, who was president for a day after Irigoyen had resigned.

Scientist Launches Tube for Sea Power

Matanzas, Cuba, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—Prof. Georges Claude, noted French scientist, succeeded today in launching a tube by which he believes he will be able to produce inexpensive power from the waters of the Gulf stream. The work required six hours.

This is the third tube that Prof. Claude has constructed. The others were destroyed in the attempts at launching, and the inventor charged that sabotage by interests opposed to his scheme was indicated.

The inventor's scheme develops around the fact that the surface water in the tropics is hot, the year round, while the water at the bottom of the ocean is cold. As he viewed it, his tube will thus tap the cold water. He plans to use the hot water to operate a turbine, after it has been converted into steam by means of a vacuum. The cold water will recondense the steam and renew the vacuum.

Sealer Recovers Bones

BLIZZARD MAY HAVE

Belief Expressed Explorers
Were Poisoned as Bodies
Were Scattered.

Stockholm, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—The sealing vessel Isbjorn reported today that it believed it had solved the final mystery of the Salomon August Andree polar expedition—what became of the body of the third member.

The sealer, which has on board the party of newspaper men, said it had found a human skeleton believed to be that of Knut Frankel and more of the remnants of the Andree camp on White Island.

Many Utensils Found.

Early last month an expedition headed by Dr. Gunnar Horn visited the island on the sealer Bratvaag and found two bodies—those of Dr. Andree and Nils Strindberg. Some bones in a boat at first were believed to be those of Frankel, but later proved to be only a polar bear's bones.

The Isbjorn party said it had found a number of other things left by the Andree expedition 33 years ago, including scientific instruments, weapons, pieces of the basket from the Andree balloon, and Frankel's notebooks. They said the camp was in excellent order and they believed the explorers died from some sudden catastrophe, such as a blizzard.

Service to Be Postponed.

This news brought word from Oslo that the finding of the additional Andree relics had given a fresh turn to the situation. The memorial service for members of the ill-fated expedition probably will be postponed until it is known whether the Swedish warship Svenstund is to await at Tromsø the arrival of the Isbjorn. The latter cannot reach Tromsø before next Sunday, as it is having motor trouble and can go only at half speed.

Adolph Hoel, director of the Svalbard office at Oslo, told the Associated Press correspondent there it was odd the bodies of the three explorers were found scattered. He advanced the theory they might have been poisoned from something they ate, for they had plenty of provisions left untouched and could also kill the animals that abound in the North.

Campbell Declares Official Insincerity And Politics Hinder Success of Dry Law

Former Prohibition Administrator of Eastern
New York District Cites Alleged Trickery and Corruption Emanating From Capital to Every State.

Startling Charges Made Against High Government
Officeholders With Reference to Issuance of Alcohol Permits to Unscrupulous Concerns.

By MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL,
Recently Prohibition Administrator of the Eastern New York District.

Treasury officials who have been in charge of prohibition and still are in charge of kindred activities, such as customs, Coast Guard, and alcohol withdrawal permits, are not sincere in prohibition enforcement.

I made this declaration when I resigned at the end of June after four years as a high executive in the prohibition enforcement service. I repeat that statement and propose in this series of articles to demonstrate it.

I declared that prohibition could not be enforced, chiefly because of politics.

My experience has been that prohibition enforcement is honey-combed with political insincerity, trickery and corruption, radiating from Washington to every State, city and town in the United States. Of course, there seep back into the prohibition system corruption and paralysis from every criminal source imaginable.

"Nobody Wants to Hear One Word of Truth."

A sporadic demand was made in Congress that I be called to detail my charges. But Congress quickly smothered any such revelation, and the administration, even its Wickersham Commission on Law Enforcement, has shown not the slightest curiosity. Nobody, to the slightest extent involved in politics, wanted to hear one word of the truth.

As a matter of fact, high administration officials already know, and have taken no action upon, a great many of the facts which I am now going to tell, the story of prohibition enforcement, or, rather, the deplorable failure to enforce prohibition as revealed to me through my three years as administrator in New York.

Copies of records support charges.

And what is true of New York is true of the rest of the country. Each city is but a spoke in the wheel, the hub of which is Washington. I know the national situation because, before I came to New York, I spent a year as supervisor of all that part of the United States from Maryland and Maine to Montana and Colorado.

I have nothing to fear from frankness and I shall not hesitate to name names of national importance in relating facts which are sup-

Post Articles.

MRS. GANN IS SURPRISED

The first of numerous echoes expected from Maj. Maurice Campbell's prohibition articles in The Washington Post rumbled last night, from no less a source than Vice President Curtis.

In the first of his copyrighted articles, appearing yesterday, the former prohibition administrator of the Eastern New York District charged the Vice President with exerting influence in Washington "which caused me to issue an alcohol permit against my better judgment to a concern which my agents not long thereafter caught in illegal diversion of alcohol."

Mr. Curtis, at this time, was representing "dry Kansas" in the Senate, Maj. Campbell explained.

He also stated that "the Vice President's campaign managers in New York, backed by his influence in Washington, made my life miserable with pressure to issue alcohol permits to companies which in my view were dubious."

Storm Zone Awaits Water and Medicine

Attention to Injured
Thousands, Cleaning of Streets Needed.

By HARWOOD HULL
(Associated Press Correspondent).

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—With Santo Domingo's dead from Wednesday's fearful hurricane numbering around 4,000, most of these buried or burned already without benefit of clergy, and with the sick and injured, there stood out tonight four needs that are urgent for relief and reconstruction.

1. Repair of the aqueduct to supply water for drinking, bathing and sanitary service. The city has been virtually without water since the storm.

Two—Rapid discharge of relief supplies, principally medical, from the ships now off the harbor. The boats have been unable to approach closely because of the after effects of the hurricane, hence the supplies are discharged laboriously in small launches, and the difficulties of traveling on debris-filled and almost obliterated roads makes the movement on land difficult.

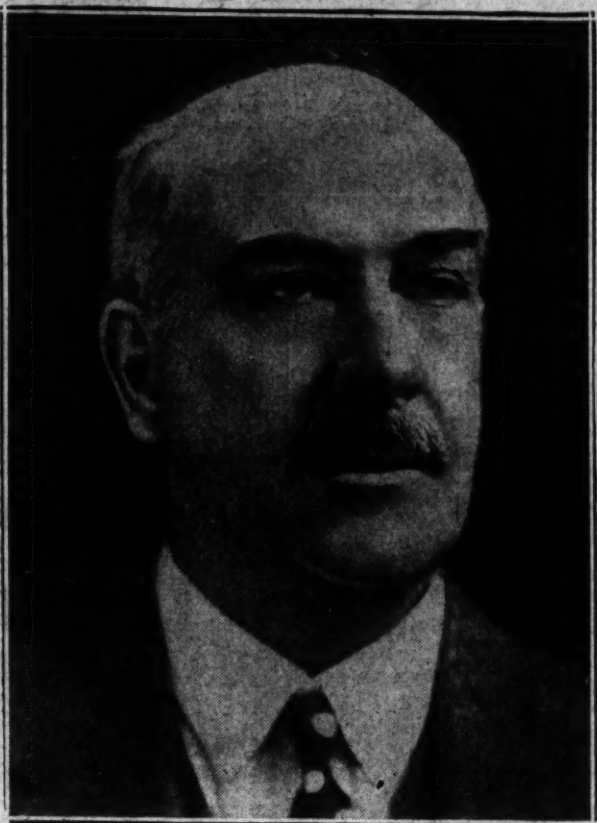

Three—Cleaning of the city streets

Four—Hospitalization of the thousands of injured and ill who are in of the storm refuse and much which desperate need of adequate medical attention.

Toward all these definite progress was made today, as the various agencies worked in coordination, but much yet remains to be accomplished.

ported by my voluminous diaries and correspondence and copies of Government records.

Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, who was Senator from Kansas, the "dryest" State in the Union, will figure prominently in this story.

Mr. Curtis' personal influence, exerted in Washington, caused me to issue an alcohol permit against my better judgment to a concern which my agents not long thereafter caught in illegal diversion of alcohol.

NATS RALLY IN NINTH TO BEAT MACKS, 7-6

SAM JONES IS POUNDED

By FRANK H. YOUNG.
Twenty-five thousand excited fans, many minus hats, having thrown away their toppieces, during the excitement of the final frame, left Griffith Stadium yesterday convinced that the Nationals are a better team than the Athletics, irrespective of which wins the 1930 gonfalon. Many have had this idea all along, but the Washington Club's ninth-inning rally, which beat the Mackmen yesterday, 7 to 6, convinced them.

This victory reduced the Philadelphia league lead to 6½ games and gave the Nats an 11-to-10 edge in the season's play to date.

It was a thriller throughout, with both teams fighting in more ways than one. From a baseball standpoint, the Nats rang up a five-run lead in the early rounds, only to see it gradually disappear and the Johnsons pack away the verdict with a two-run stand in the ninth.

Coste Receives 'Wings'; Declines Bulldog Puppy

United States naval aviation "wings" graced the coat of Capt. Dieudonne Coste last night, and by the same whim that led to its acceptance he tactfully declined the gift of a pudgy little French bulldog pup as a mascot.

Twelve-year-old Arthur Souther, of the Chaseton Hotel, was granted his request to pin on the noted flier the "wings," but Coste did not learn until much later that he had accepted the coveted emblem of a full-fledged Navy pilot, the possession of the lad's father, Lieut. Hugh Sterling Souther, now connected with the Bureau of Lighthouses.

Admitting frankly that he would not know what to do with a bulldog pup, Coste smilingly declined the offer of 14-year-old William Harper, of 2604 University place northwest, a pupil of Powell school. The youth felt amply rewarded for his visit by a hearty handshake from both Coste and his companion flier, Maurice Bellonte.

by Virginia Police to Clear Accident.

District authorities are holding three charged with murder in connection with the death of Maurice (Mickey) Kelliher, well known baseball player, who was killed yesterday in what was reported to be an automobile accident in Alexandria, Va.

Earl J. Garrison, William McKeever and William Shea, alleged to be the operator of the car, are named in the murder warrant issued yesterday by Justice of the Peace George S. French. Sgt. Heber Thompson, of the Alexandria police, is the complainant in the warrant and alleges that Kelliher was thrown from the automobile.

Capt. W. W. Campbell, of the Alexandria police, denied reports last night that affidavits had been obtained from two witnesses that they had seen Kelliher thrown from the automobile. Sgt. Thompson asserted that the three men had declined to return to the Alexandria jurisdiction and it was imperative that they be charged so as to conduct an investigation of the fatality.

Inquest Not Asked.

Capt. Campbell explained that the issuance of the murder warrant was merely a proceeding to bring the men to Alexandria for further inquiry. No request for an inquest had been made last night to Coroner T. M. Jones.

McKeever, who lives on Farragut near Sixth street northwest, and Shea, who lives on Fairmont near Thirteenth street northwest, are being held at the Third Precinct station. Garrison, of Tenth Street near C. southeast, the third occupant of the machine, is in Gallinger Hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain. He was removed to Gallinger yesterday from Emergency Hospital.

Immediately after the accident Acting Coroner Joseph Rogers issued a certificate of accidental death. Shea and McKeever will be brought War birds once, conquerors of distance now, France's two gallant fliers, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, swooped down on Washington out of a murky sky late yesterday, to encounter a din of acclaim that engulfed them for an hour.

They came in with luck still perched on the fuselage, for a half hour after they landed a storm broke and drenched the city.

The first burst of rain, in fact, caught them as they were riding in an open car through the Capitol grounds, and though it landed on their bare heads, they refused to have the top raised.

The no longer enigmatic Question Mark, the big red plane which carried the Frenchmen in the first non-stop flight from Paris to New York, bounced onto Bolling Field with punctuality. It was due at 5 o'clock; it landed at 4:59.

Air Filled With Cheers.

From that moment until they disappeared within the French embassy, the air around them crackled with acclaim. Crowds along the sidewalks cheered them, housewives in windows waved to them, and motorists serenaded them with horns.

Then came an old-world gesture, reminiscent of Charles A. Lindbergh's arrival in Paris.

Responding to the cheering crowd that was banded outside the embassy, Coste and Bellonte appeared on a balcony on the second floor. There, with a French tricolor between them, they waved and smiled to those below.

The Question Mark, which had left New York two hours before, first was sighted over Northeast Washington. It was flanked by an escort of Navy Marine Corps battle planes, and looked like a great goose leading its young.

Take Time Landing.

For ten minutes Coste and Bellonte loafed around in the air, while fifteen other planes circled around them. Then Coste brought the ship down, and seemingly the wheels and the tail skid struck the turf simultaneously—the airman's coveted 3-point landing.

A report was out that Col. Lindbergh would fly down with Coste and Bellonte, and the crowd at the field thought that he was the plane that hovered near the Question Mark. It developed, however, that this plane was occupied by photographers. In New York, Col. Lindbergh explained that he wanted yesterday to be "Coste and Bellonte Day."

Today, however, the French fliers will break bread not only with Lindbergh, but with Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd as well.

Only the heads of Coste and Bellonte could be seen at first. Both wore helmets, and Coste had a white scarf around his neck. Then they stood up, removed their helmets, and onlookers beheld them in clothes that would be appropriate on their own Parisian boulevards.

With three bullets in his body from the dead policeman's revolver, Wroten was handcuffed to a cot in the Alexandria General Hospital. Police reserves and guards at the hospital stood ready for any emergency, although Capt. W. W. Campbell announced that no trouble was expected. Pierce, who was 29 and married.

Calvin Coolidge Says: Up to the present time there has been very little development of a national character in the political campaign. Apparently local issues are engaging most of the public attention. That is inevitable where the candidates are dependent upon State and district favor for their election.

There has been some complaint on one side that the President has been overpraised and on the other side that he has been overcriticized. Supposing both were true it discloses nothing more than a normal condition of political activity which is not likely to arouse much public interest.

All elections are important and good government can be secured only by the constantly active and energetic efforts of the voters. But the country ought not to be subjected at the present time to agitation over false issues. A candid, good-tempered discussion of public policies is always welcome. But during the next two months the people may well be spared from the virulent type of partisanship and personal abuse.

PERU JUNTA ORDERS AMERICANS FREED

Capt. H. Grow and Charles Sutton Still Liable to Court Trials.

OFFICIALS HERE PLEASED

(Associated Press.)
The State Department was advised yesterday that Capt. Harold Grow and Charles Sutton, American citizens held prisoners in Peru since the overthrow of the Legua government in that country, have been ordered released.

A dispatch to the department from American Ambassador Dearing, in Lima, dated Saturday, said the release of the Americans had been directed by the president of the Peruvian junta, but that they were still liable to legal proceedings on such charges as may be made against them.

Press dispatches Saturday night carried an announcement by the American Ambassador that he had conferred with officials of the new regime and had obtained assurances that the Americans would be freed if they would agree to stand trial in the courts.

Capt. Grow formerly was a member of the American naval mission in Peru, but had resigned and taken over the directorship of the Peruvian air service when the Legua regime was overthrown.

State Department officials expressed gratification over the release order, advancing the belief that it signified the friendly attitude of the new government.

CURB SHARE LOSSES PARTIALLY REGAINED

Market Works Lower First Part of Week, but Later Stages Comeback.

DAILY VOLUME IS SMALL

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—The curb market worked lower during most of last week, but showed recuperative powers in the later sessions, regaining most of the earlier losses. Resumption of trading on Tuesday found sentiment uncertain and prices, contrary to expectations, sagged rather consistently through Thursday, although increasing resistance was apparent on that day.

Trading was in the hands of the professionals and the daily volume was small. Utilities regained their old leadership at the close of the week, when Electric Bond & Share and other prominent members of the group were active. The group's recovery was due to the fact that the group's shares were under pressure, making a new low under 30 in Saturday's trading. Humble Oil, Gulf and Vacuum steadied after meeting small losses.

Few issues stood out among the power and light holding company shares. American Gas & Electric moved up several points when the shorts protected profits toward the close of the week. Brazilian Traction rallied nearly 3 points and then lost its rise, although political disturbances in South America appeared to exert little or no influence on the move. American Superpower, Niagara Hudson and United Light "A" traded narrowly. Associated Gas & Electric touched the new 1930 low of 39 3/4.

AQUEDUCT BEING FIXED

Storm Warning Given By Weather Bureau

(Associated Press.)
The Weather Bureau yesterday issued the following advisory storm warning:

"A capital disturbance of small diameter was reported Saturday between St. Lucia and St. Vincent, presumably moving in a westerly direction over eastern Caribbean Sea. No advisory tonight unless vessel's reports are received from center."

In the warm tropical sun of last Sunday, today spent another period of horror in seeking out the bodies of Wednesday's hurricane dead and burying and incinerating those already recovered.

Troops stood sternly on guard over the food and medical supplies rushed here as relief workers sought under masses of wood, stone and mortar for those who are swelling the great toll of dead.

When a body is found a pistol shot is fired into the air, and the shots are heard frequently. So far the death toll is estimated at 4,000, with a promise that the number will be increased when all are accounted for.

Meanwhile the relief expeditions from Porto Rico, Cuba and Haiti have taken charge and are feeding the hungry and treating the ill.

The American Red Cross unit which was given charge of relief work in one section of the city functioned throughout the day in distribution of food and medicine.

Minister Curtis again called on President Trujillo and offered him all available assistance from the Red Cross.

An effort was being made tonight by a special crew of workmen to expedite repairs to the aqueduct through which the city's water supply is obtained to permit its use as soon as possible. Other workmen engaged tonight in unloading relief cargoes in the harbor by moonlight.

It was expected that by tomorrow the Ozama River will have fallen sufficiently that the S. S. Catherine may come up alongside docks to complete unloading.

Prisoners and civilians worked together today in cleaning storm refuse and the accumulation since then from the city's streets. At the present rate the task will occupy many days.

Babe Stapp Is Eighth In Italian Auto Race

Monza, Italy, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Babe Stapp, American Pilot, finished no better than eighth in the Monza automobile racing classic here today. The first three places went to the Italians, Vercell, Arancini and Ernesto Maserati, all of whom piloted Maserati machines. Vercell negotiated the course of 240.135 kilometers, a little more than 150 miles, in 1 hour 35 minutes 46.1-5 seconds.

Minozzi in a Bugatti was fourth; Fagioli in a Maserati, fifth. Stapp, in a Bugatti sixth, and Carracchia in a Mercedes seventh. Stapp piloted a Duesenberg.

Under the system used, three elimination trials were held, the first four in each qualifying for the final. In his trial Stapp finished third behind Maserati and Carracchia.

Baby Lee II Seeking New Speedboat Mark

Greenville, Miss., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Seeking the lower New Orleans-Mississippi River speed boat record, the outboard motorboat Baby Lee II passed here at 5:30 a. m. today. When the craft reached here, the St. Louis sportsman, Charles Schokkeller and Harry Hunsford had completed 492 miles of the 1,153-mile voyage.

A. W. Holt, superintendent of the West Kentucky Coal Co.'s fleet, across the river from Greenville, said the crew of the boat refueled on the run and was averaging 35 miles an hour on passing here.

Bermuda Beats U. S. In Two Yacht Races

Larchmont, N. Y., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—The Royal Bermuda Yacht Club won a special two-race, 6-meter yacht race contest with the United States, 11 1/2 points to 9 1/2.

The Bermuda team outscored the Americans, 6 1/2 points to 4, in the morning race, but trailed in the afternoon, 5 1/2 to 5, thus winning the series by only 2 points.

IRIGOYEN LIES ILL AT ARMY BARRACKS

Fallen Argentine Dictator Apologizes to Captors for Wearing Hat.

IS PNEUMONIA PATIENT

Buenos Aires, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Hipolito Irigoyen, a man reputedly near 80 years old, who for fourteen years ruled Argentina directly or indirectly, tonight lay seriously ill in the barracks of the Seventh Infantry at La Plata.

Although not officially a prisoner of the revolting forces which unseated his government last night, he is to all intents and purposes a captive. He was detained when he arrived last night, but after his illness took a more severe turn was informed he was not a prisoner.

The former president is suffering from pneumonia and overstrain. His temperature was high last night, but it was said tonight he had shown improvement. A report that he had been paralyzed was denied.

Beside his bed in the Seventh Infantry barracks sit only those who have stayed with him in his sunset—his daughter, three physicians—Dr. Gonzalez, Dr. Avila and Dr. Menes—his most picturesque figure of all, Vicente Scariello, a lifelong friend. Until the revolt Scariello operated a tobacco shop on the ground floor of the President's private residence in the Calle Brasil at Buenos Aires.

The aged president, who for a long time has been afflicted with lung trouble, remained in Buenos Aires last night until the revolution was proclaimed.

Convinced by the Army officers that the success of the revolt necessitated his resignation, Irigoyen asked for paper and with his own hand wrote the document which ended one of the most remarkable political careers in history.

Then he was told that because of his resignation and the state of his health he was no longer a prisoner. On advice of his physician he remained in the barracks, where he was permitted full freedom, but was closely guarded, ostensibly to prevent violence against him.

Irigoyen is not expected to survive long. The intense shock brought on by the revolution will be too much for him in the opinion of friends. No one ventured to predict his future if he lived. Popular animosity, although abated, prevents his return to Buenos Aires.

The people of Buenos Aires were still jubilant today over the change in government and are expecting another round of manifestations tomorrow. The government today decreed that tomorrow should be a national holiday in order that the citizens may witness the members of the new government take oath before Gen. Jose Evaristo Uriburu, provisional president.

Devastation and ruin in the wake of the disastrous hurricane which swept the Dominican Republic last week are vividly pictured in these photographs which were rushed here. The air view at top shows Santo Domingo, capital city, a shambles of more than 4,000 dead, leveled buildings, wrecked homes, debris-littered thoroughfares and general desolation. The second photo from the top shows the American Legation there, with its roof stripped away. The third photo shows the Dominican airport in ruins, with a trimotored airplane wrecked by the storm. The bottom picture shows inhabitants carrying salvaged possessions from their razed homes.

S. W. STRAUS, NOTED FINANCIER, IS DEAD

Man Who Developed First Mortgage Real Estate Bond Dies.

BEGAN IN SMALL WAY

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—Simon William Straus, noted financier, chairman of the board of S. W. Straus & Co., died at his suite at the Hotel Ambassador today. He was 63 and had been ill for more than a year.

Generally recognized as the originator of the modern first mortgage real estate bond, he was one of the pioneers in aiding the development of the American skyscraper.

His company was among the first to finance large buildings and the banker won wide recognition through his plan for safeguarding first mortgage loans on improved real estate and making them of security available to the general investing public.

Father Came From Germany.

Mr. Straus started his career in Chicago. His father, Frederick William Straus, founded the Citizens Bank in Ligonier, Ind., after he came to this country from Germany. Later he moved to Chicago and opened a small mortgage office, his son entering the business in 1884.

The firm, first known as F. W. Straus & Co., became, when the father retired, S. W. Straus & Co., the son taking over the management. Mr. Straus assumed the presidency when the concern was incorporated in 1905 after a rapid growth. He continued in this post until 1929, when he became chairman of the board. He moved to New York in 1915 and devoted the major part of his time to that office and the development of branches throughout the country.

Was Founder of Banks.

Under his leadership the company erected the Straus Building in New York and Chicago. He founded the Franklin Trust & Savings Bank in Chicago in 1911 and in 1929 he established the Straus National Bank & Trust Companies in Chicago and New York.

In addition to these activities, Mr. Straus was president of the American Society for Thrift, which he founded in 1911. He was the author of "History of the Thrift Movement in America." He was the founder of the Ravinia Country Club in Chicago and contributed generously to charities in both Chicago and New York. Born in Ligonier, Ind., he was educated in the public schools in Chicago and the Hughes High School, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Surviving are the widow, the former married in 1895; three daughters, Mrs. Hattie Kline, of Pittsburgh, when he founded in 1911; Mrs. Mary E. Straus, of Chicago; and Mrs. Louise Celestin, Mrs. Herbert S. Martin and Mrs. Vladimir S. Rachevsky and two brothers, Arthur and S. J. T. Straus, of Chicago.

UNITES FOR MRS. WALL.

Services to Be Conducted Tomorrow at Lee's Funeral Parlor.

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie A. Wall, 84 years old, will be conducted from the funeral parlors of J. William Lee Sons, 332 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Rev. J. Manley Cobb, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church at Takoma Park, Md., will conduct the service.

Mrs. Wall, who lived in Washington for more than 25 years, died at the home of a relative in East Orange, N. J., following a fall. Her husband, the late John C. Wall, was a Government employee in Washington before his death several years ago.

Surviving Mrs. Wall are one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Rado, of East Orange, and three nephews, Jesse L. Clarence E. and Walter B. Ergood, all of Washington. Interment will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

War Department Clerk Disappears

Police Are Asked to Search for Charles Rintz, Gone Since Saturday.

Charles Rintz, 34 years old, of 2537 Twenty-seventh street, northeast, who is said to have been very despondent recently, is the object of a police search, following a report made of his absence. Rintz has been missing since he left his work in the Munitions Building at 1 o'clock Saturday.

Rintz has been despondent for about a month, according to F. L. Humphrey, a neighbor, who made the report for the man's wife, Mrs. Edith Rintz. The missing man is described as being 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing 145 pounds. He has a thin face and wears glasses, and was clad in a blue suit, without a hat. His car is missing with him. He is a clerk in the War Department.

Man Claims $180 Loss By Liquor Party Theft

Hospitality indiscriminately extended to a taxi driver cost Gilmer F. Haines, of Willard, Ohio, exactly $180 yesterday, the latter told police of the Sixth Precinct. Arriving at the Union Station early yesterday morning, he said, he registered at a nearby hotel, called a taxi and went in search of liquor. The driver procured a quart bottle, according to Mr. Haines' story, and they returned to the hotel. Mr. Haines invited the cabby to come up to his room. The invitation was accepted, and a few hours later both went to sleep. Awakening about noon, Mr. Haines found the taxi driver gone, with $180 that he claims to have had in his wallet.

Hundreds at Opening Of Post's Town House

The opening of the Town House, at 1822 Irving street northwest, yesterday proved one of the outstanding events in this year's history of local home development. Throughout the day this dwelling sponsored by The Washington Post was visited and admired by hundreds of persons. Its environment, excellence of construction and charm of design was a constant topic of the visitor's conversation. The house furnished and decorated by W. B. Moses & Sons and offered for sale by R. M. Hooker, with offices in the Tower Building, will be open for inspection daily from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Found Unconscious, Man Dies. Found in an unconscious condition beside the Chesapeake Beach Railroad yesterday morning, Max McKee, 40 years old, address unknown, died a few hours later at Casualty Hospital. Death is thought to have been caused by poisoning from alcohol. The man's body was found in Maryland, about 800 feet from the District line.

STOCK PRICES RISE AT CLOSE OF WEEK

Earlier Losses More Than Offset as Prices Near Peaks of July.

SALES EXTREMELY DULL

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—Bull forces returned from the Labor Day holiday last week faced with the troublesome peak in prices which defeated them in July, and failing to attract help from the so-called outside public, finally enlisted the unwilling aid of the bears.

After sagging early in the week, the market more than recovered its losses as shorts were driven to cover during the last two sessions, and the price index of 90 leading shares was lifted to the highest level since late July. The net advance for the week, however, was only about 2 points.

The close of the week found the market once more in a critical position, but the bull camp found itself close to that peak established by the course of the market in July, with little doubt as to its abilities to get above it.

The index of 90 shares reached a triple top during the determined bull campaign of July. It reached 172.8 on the 18th, declined for a few days and got back to 172 on the 23rd. On the 28th, it broke through to 173.3, but then went into a decline which reduced it to 171.8 on August 12. The end of this week found the index back to 171.8, or just about into the critical testing area through which it could not pass in July.

Outside Support Still Lacking.

Hopes expressed among the more optimistic bulls that with the end of the vacation season, outside support would come back into the stock market, were premature. The market began the week with extreme dullness and bulls were inclined to mark time. Bears rushed in to depress the list, and sent prices somewhat lower on Tuesday and Wednesday. No general liquidation could be started, however, and during the decline trading came almost to a standstill. Only when bears began to cover on Friday did trading start to show some life. Trading was comparatively dull, nevertheless, even at the end of the week. In fact, it was one of the duller weeks of the year.

The market had much to contend with in the way of dividend reductions and unfavorable earnings reports. The fact that quarterly income taxes must be paid on the 15th may have caused some liquidation of stocks to raise funds. Despite this, the list maintained a good undertone. The prospect of further dividend cuts and bad earnings statements made conservative traders reluctant to follow the advance. Business reports were a little less favorable during the week, but signs of further seasonal improvement were not lacking.

Favorable aspects of the week were the continued flow of funds into the bond market, and the beginning of an overflow into preferred and high grade common stocks, as yields on bonds were further diminished.

Three-Year Bond Peak Reached.

The bond average reached the best level in three years. An improvement in bonds has normally preceded a cyclical upturn in the stock market. Some observers point with some regret to the fact that many of the leading issues on the stock market are already selling at levels at which yields are extremely low, and believe that these issues, if unable to attract support from investors, may be permitted to sag and thus unsettle the entire list. Opinion on this point, however, varies widely, some holding that premier stocks will still attract buyers at prices 15 to 25 times annual earnings.

Commodity prices were more stable. Wheat sagged to new lows early in the week, then rallied briskly. Credit remained plentiful with rates for fixed term loans holding about stationary. Call loans, however, advanced from 2 to 2½ per cent, reflecting the September 1 settlement. Broker's loans increased only $5,000, which was regarded as a negligible change. Foreign exchanges turned decidedly weak, as the seasonal trend in exchange rates on New York recently asserted itself.

Gold exports, for the time being, seemed at an end.

Wife, Son Missing, Husband Reports

Police Asked to Look for Mrs. R. M. Whitehall and Boy of 7.

Police have been asked to look for Ruth M. Whitehall and her 7-year-old son, John, who have been missing from their home in the Miramonte Apartments at Fifteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest since Saturday afternoon. The husband of the woman, Norris D. Whitehall, who asked police to make the search, thought that she might be in a Washington hotel, perhaps under an assumed name.

Mrs. Whitehall is 32 years old and is 5 feet 1 inch tall. She was wearing a red and black flowered dress when she left. The son is about 3 feet 6 inches tall, and weighed about 125 pounds. She has brown hair and eyes.

SIGNS OF BUSINESS RECOVERY GROWING

Improvement Shown in Ingot and Freight Loadings for Week.

BUILDING ACTIVITY OFF

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—Further signs of business and trade recovery were apparent in the records of the past week, but the improvement was less uniform than that noted in the preceding fortnight, and the outlines were blurred a little by the influences of the Labor Day holiday.

Slight improvement was again reported in the steel industry, iron Age estimated that ingot production had reached 55 per cent of capacity, the third gain of 1 per cent in three weeks. The mercantile reviews were a little more cheerful over wholesale and retail trade activity. Reports on building operations and electric power consumption, however, were disappointing.

Activity in building, as measured by F. W. Dodge Corporation's statistics on the dollar volume of contracts let, showed some improvement over July in the early week of August, but in the last week of the month contracts let fell off to the smallest volume since January, as a result of the August total was 8 per cent under July. Nevertheless, the month was only 29 per cent under August of last year, while July showed a drop of about 44 per cent from the previous year.

Use of Electric Power Drops.

The National Electric Light Association reported that electric power consumption in the preceding week amounted to 1,664,043,000 kilowatt hours, as against 1,678,787,000 in week of a fortnight ago. The decline in the latest week from the corresponding period of last year was more than 4 per cent, and the sharpest weekly reduction reported since 1921. Perhaps protracted week-end factory closing for the Labor Day week-end were a factor in this showing.

The steel industry profited from large orders for structural steel, and a little better buying by some of the automobile producers. Railroads were reported inquiring for necessary equipment in small way. A favorable development was a more determined price stand by independents.

The automobile industry, however, continued to move cautiously. Factory schedules now indicate that September will show little if any improvement over August, and aggregate output may be lower.

Freight Car Loadings Rise.

Freight car loadings as reported for the third week of August showed another substantial gain, and a few leading carriers which have already reported for the last week of the month, show further improvement. It was notable in the third week, however, that most of the improvement appeared in the movement of coal. Miscellaneous freight and less than car load lots showed little change. A few railway heads, however, have expressed the belief that current freight movement indicates that a definite turn has come.

Although most retail sales reports for August now available show further declines, a cheering announcement was made by President Parsons of Woolworth, who said that the week of August 9 showed a definite turn in the company's sales. The president of Interstate Department Stores also said that August had shown steady gains over July, and a few other merchandising organizations noted a turn for the better. Wholesale buying was reported as notably better this week, with a distinct firming in the dry goods markets.

Particularly cheering has been evidence of greater stability in commodity prices. The past week saw further depression in wheat to new lows for the period since 1914, but there was a marked rally on Friday. Both Dun's and Bradstreet's wholesale price indices for August showed little change, the Annalist's commodity price index for the week was practically stationary.

Five Men Injured In Street Brawls

Two Are in Grave Condition After Receiving Stab Wounds.

Two Negroes were seriously injured and three white men received slight injuries in a series of fights occurring here over the week-end. Charles Wilson, colored, 24 years old, of Linwood, Md., was injured in a serious condition at Emergency Hospital after a fight near his home with another man. Wilson had been stabbed several times in the chest. He was given first aid treatment at Walter Reed Hospital and later transferred to Emergency.

Another colored man is in an undetermined condition as a result of a fight in a house at 1137 Fifth street northwest early yesterday morning. Augustus Bradley, 45 years old, of that address, said by police to have been fighting with his brother, Eugene, 37 years old, of Newark, N. J., received a stab wound in the heart which may prove fatal. Augustus was taken to Freedmen's Hospital, where he remained. The brother was locked up at the Second Precinct station and charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

Three white men were treated at Emergency Hospital early yesterday morning for slight injuries they received in a fight with a crowd of colored men at Four-and-a-half and H streets southwest. The men are August Hocker, 20 years old; John Shorter, 21 years old; and Martin Quinn, 27 years old, all of Fort Myer, Va. Their injuries were received when they were struck about the head with bricks and bottles.

Boy Is Badly Injured In 20-Foot Tree Tumble

Jack Brown, 12 years old, of 918 North Carolina avenue southeast, is in a serious condition at Casualty Hospital after falling about 20 feet from a tree yesterday morning. At Casualty Hospital, where he was taken, it was said that he had a fractured skull.

The lad was climbing into a tree in front of 121 Anacostia road southeast, when he lost his grip and fell to the ground. Casualty Hospital ambulance was called and carried the boy to that institution.

Vulcanizer Blast Breaks Windows

Proprietor, in Bed Above Shop, Knocked to Floor by Concussion.

Explosion of a vulcanizer in a used tire shop at 1370 H street northeast early yesterday morning blew out the windows of the place, but did no damage to the interior of the building. Electric light bulbs in the show window were unbroken.

Joseph Silverstone, proprietor of the store, was in bed in his rooms on the second story of the building when the blast occurred. He was shaken from his bed by the concussion, but was unhurt. The force of the explosion was felt for blocks around, and a crowd quickly gathered to watch the work of members of the rescue squad, who cleared the street of shattered glass and searched the interior for sparks.

Mr. Silverstone was unable to estimate the damage done, but it appeared to be slight, except for the broken show windows. Overheating of the vulcanizer is thought to have caused the accident.

BOND PRICES RISE STEADILY IN WEEK

Index Goes to Highest Peak for Nearly Three Years in Recent Sessions.

NEW FINANCING SMALL

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—The bond market celebrated the passage of Labor Day by advancing to the highest level in about three years. Buying is still largely institutional, but dealers report that the increasing strength of prices is bringing a better demand from private investors who are beginning to pick up obligations which have not shared in the rise.

The volume of new financing in recent weeks has been small, but better competition from that source is in sight. Dealers report that numerous large loans, particularly utility financing, are in sight and it is expected that offerings will be made as soon as convenient. Few new foreign issues are anticipated, since the market for issues of that description has been rather unsettled.

Recalling the heavy bond flotations of last spring and the market's tendency to ease under the burden thus placed upon it, observers will watch closely the reaction to the forthcoming financing. It is pointed out, however, that prices have been gathering strength most of the summer, that there is a scarcity in floating supplies of the best issues for which the demand has been most insistent, that another periodic bond cycle has apparently started and that no interruption to the course of easy money is in sight. For these reasons, students of the market are viewing the immediate future optimistically.

The features of the past trading week, shortened by the Labor Day holiday, were the bullish demonstrations made by the highest grade domestic issues and the erratic moves of the Latin-Americans. The latter, affected by uncertain political conditions in the republics, bobbed up and down within wide ranges. European bonds were generally firm, especially the French governments, which touched record highs. Buying of these obligations came chiefly from French sources, for the Paris authorities are seeking to repatriate the issues, sold here several years ago.

Domestic rails were buoyant and many new highs were reached. Utilities were less spectacular, but there was better inquiry for industrials, which usually lag behind the other major groups in an upturn. United States Government bonds tended to ease, for money was firmer.

Man Held on Daughter's Charge. Iden Posey, 38, of 215 F street northwest, arrested yesterday on a statutory charge, was held at the Sixth Precinct. His two small children, whose mother died several months ago, were removed to the receiving home. Charges against Posey were preferred by his 15-year-old daughter, Tazel.

Just as natural loveliness is pleasing to your eyes, the natural mildness of Camel Cigarettes is pleasing to your taste.

Camel is an amazingly mild smoke. Yet it is never flat—never tasteless. All the mellow aroma of the choice tobaccos in the Camel blend is preserved and enhanced through every step of manufacture. There's no over-processing with its resultant insipidity—no doctoring, for none is needed.

Modern smokers have recognized the difference between mildness and flatness. They're swinging to Camels—choosing a cigarette that's naturally mild—enjoying the real luxury of smoking.

King of Siam
Pays Tribute
To Mr. LoftusOrder of White Elephant
Conferred Upon Him for Services.

By JEAN ELIOT.

IN recognition of long service to the State, the King of Siam has conferred upon Mr. Edward H. Loftus, some time counselor of the Siamese Legation at Washington, the Order of the White Elephant, with the grade of commander, and an honorarium of a handsome sum with which to purchase a house. These honors are tokens of his majesty's personal approval of Mr. Loftus' record of 29 years in the Diplomatic Service of Siam, during which time he was attached to the legation in Washington in various capacities, from second secretary to counselor. An Englishman by birth, Mr. Loftus was devoted in his allegiance to his adopted land and frequently served as chargé d'affaires in the last years of his connection with the Siamese Legation.

On his retirement from diplomatic life at the end of last September, Mr. Loftus and his charming English wife left Washington, much to the regret of their many friends. They have been living in Charlottesville, Va. Their younger son, Mr. Reginald Loftus, was then a student at the University of Virginia.

Graduated with distinction in June, young Mr. Loftus and his father started at once on a prolonged motor tour, driving from Virginia to Texas, through the length of California to Vancouver, B. C., and on their way back, visiting several of the national parks. They have just recently returned to Charlottesville. This week Mr. and Mrs. Loftus will sail for England to make a series of visits to relatives. They expect to return in time to spend Christmas with their sons, Frederick and Reginald, in Charlottesville, and after that they will decide where they will make their permanent home. Should they elect to live in Washington, they would be warmly welcomed.

As an earlier tribute of the esteem of the Siamese government, Mr. Loftus was given a Siamese name and during the latter part of his residence here he was officially known as Phya Nides Virajitkij.

The secretary of Labor, Mr. James J. Davis, spent the week-end with Mrs. Davis and their children at Ventnor, N. J. Mrs. Davis and the children, who have been at their cottage since early summer, expect to return to Washington next Monday.

Secretary Cotton Plans For Home in Georgetown.

The Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Joseph P. Cotton, is in town for a few days completing arrangements for leaving the residence at 1403 Thirtieth street, which was occupied last winter by Mr. T. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, and Mrs. Davison. Enamored of Georgetown, which has become a center of fashion in the last few years, Mr. and Mrs. Davison have bought a house in N street, of which they will take possession when its restoration is complete.

Since coming to Washington Mr. and Mrs. Cotton have been living at 1701 Nineteenth street, for several years the home of the former Secretary of State and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg.

Mrs. Nat Wildman, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldenberg, will leave Wednesday for her home in New York.

Mr. A. Blair Thaw has taken an apartment at the Hay-Adams House pending the recovery of Mrs. Thaw, who recently underwent an operation at Emergency Hospital. Mrs. Cord Meyer, of New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thaw, spent several days in Washington last week and will return for occasional visits while her mother is ill.

Kelleys Will Visit Here Before Returning Home.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure Kelley, who have been abroad, will arrive in Washington the last of this week or the first of next week and will visit Mr. Kelley's mother, Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, at the Knole, her country home on the Rockville road, before returning to their home in Aurora, Ill. Their small daughter remained with Mrs. Kelley at the Knole while they were in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley spent some time in Italy, formerly the home of Mrs. Kelley, who was Miss Dora Catalani, and later they were guests of Senator Rose "Adilla" daughter of the Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla, in San Sebastian, Spain. They spent last week in Paris.

Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten, now in Paris, expect to sail for this country next summer, but will go to Montauk Point, Long Island, for a brief stay before coming to Washington. After attending the sessions of the Interparliamentary Union in London, Representative and Mrs. Britten spent several weeks at Karlsbad.

Herr Wolfgang Gans Edler zu Puffitz, secretary of the German Embassy, has returned to the Capital from Eastern Point, Gloucester, Mass., where he was the guest of Representative A. Platt Andrews.

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Iden, Jr., who have been living at Florence, will leave for their home in New York.

Prof. D. I. Bushnell, of the University of Virginia, and his mother arrived in town yesterday and will remain for a month. They are staying at the Hay-Adams House.

Envoy Away,
Brazil Day Is
Not ObservedCapital Quiet But New York Marks 108th Anniversary.

With the Brazilian Ambassador, Senor A. Gurgel de Amaral, out of town, the anniversary of the independence of Brazil yesterday passed without note except that the flag of Brazil flew from the embassy. However, the Brazilian colony in New York had a celebration to mark the 108th anniversary of the Declaration of Ypiranga, by which freedom from Portugal was proclaimed.

It was on September 7, 1822, that Dom Pedro, son of King John VI, of Portugal, became Emperor of Brazil. In 1876, it will be remembered, Dom Pedro II, Emperor of Brazil, paid an official visit to the United States to attend the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, and spent several days in Washington, where he was received with much ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bennett, of Waterbury, Conn., have been at the Dodge Hotel for several days while in Washington.

Commander John M. Shafroth, U. S. N., and Mrs. Shafroth have taken a house at 3009 Cathedral avenue, which they will occupy this coming winter.

Their daughter, Miss Helena Shafroth, is with them. Commander Shafroth is a son of the late former senator, John M. Shafroth, of Colorado. His brother, Mr. Morrison Shafroth, is a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination from the same State.

Mrs. Shafroth was formerly Miss Helena Fisher, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex M. Beach, of Mexico, who are motoring through the East are at the Grove Park Inn, in the mountains of Asheville, N. C., for two weeks before coming to Washington.

Preparations are under way for the garden party to be given by St. Aloysius Church, North Capitol and I streets. It will be held on the church grounds and will open Saturday, September 13, to be continued until September 20.

Mr. Frederick Vining Fisher, executive officer of the George Washington biennial celebration, will occupy his apartment at the Hay-Adams House after September 15.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Barnard are leaving for California.

Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Joseph H. Barnard will leave the Mayflower shortly for Santa Barbara, Calif., their future home. Col. and Mrs. Barnard arrived at Washington Barracks last month from Fort Sam Houston and last week the former's application for retirement from the service at the end of thirty years' duty was granted and they are leaving today for the West. Mrs. Barnard is a niece of Mrs. Blair Bannister.

Capt. and Mrs. A. J. Farner and their daughter are spending two weeks in Washington, where they are guests at the Fairfax Hotel. They will go from here to Fort Benning, Ga.

Mrs. E. H. G. Slater, who has been abroad all summer, is at present at Aix-Les-Bains in the French Alps. She is expected back in Washington the latter part of October.

Mrs. Charles Picard has as her guest her sister, Mrs. Hattie Webster, of Louisiana.

Mr. Davison
Has 1,000 at
Island PartyFete at Peacock Point
Dedicated to Nassau
G. O. P. Committee.

More than 1,000 men and women attended the annual clam bake given Saturday by Mr. F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, at Peacock Point, the estate of his mother, Mrs. Henry P. Davison, at Locust Valley, Long Island. The fete was arranged in compliment to the Nassau County Republican committee, but the invitation list included State and Federal officers and prominent county leaders. Assisted by Mrs. Davison, Mr. Davison personally greeted all his guests.

Threatening weather had made it necessary to erect a huge marquee that completely covered the tables. The bakes were built on the shore and created a source of interest to the guests for an hour before they were opened. A long low platform constructed over the beach was used for dancing and talking motion pictures were shown, showing local and national political gatherings, with many of the guests seeing and hearing themselves upon the screen. Politics, however, was taboo as a topic of conversation.

Representative Robert Low Bacon, Representative Ruth Baker Pratt and Mr. William J. Donovan, former Assistant to the Attorney General, were among those well known in Washington who were in the company.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith and Mr. Russell Young, Jr., are visiting Miss Mary B. Adams, of Washington, at her summer home, Pansy Patch, at Bass Rocks, Mass.

HOOVER VISIT PLANNED

Official delegates appointed by the governments of the nations of North and South America, as well as representatives of a number of important national associations interested in agriculture and its allied industries, began arriving yesterday for the opening today of the first Inter-American Conference on Agriculture, Forestry and Animal Industry.

An elaborate program, covering virtually every phase of agriculture, both from the commercial and economic aspects, has been prepared for the conference which will be in session until September 20.

In addition to the informative value of the conference, it is expected that definite steps will be taken for further cooperation among the Americas in research, the gathering and dissemination of statistics and scientific studies, and other work along agricultural lines which will be of benefit to all the nations members of the Pan-American Union.

President Hoover will receive the delegates at the White House at 12:45 o'clock Wednesday. Addresses of welcome will be made at the opening session by Acting Secretary of State Cotton and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde. A luncheon will be given the delegates by the governing board of the Pan-American Union today. Secretary of Commerce Lamont will address the meeting this afternoon.

President and Wife Attend Church Service

(Associated Press.)
Spending his second Sunday at the White House since the beginning of summer, President Hoover attended church yesterday with Mrs. Hoover and later took an automobile ride. The President abandoned his usual trip to the Rapidan River lodge, largely to devote the day to assembling material for the four speeches he is to make early in October.

CENTERS LONG BATTLE

Panama City, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—It was reliably reported today that four members of the Panama cabinet intend to resign unless Jephtha B. Duncan, around whom a storm has been brewing for some time, quits his post as secretary of public instruction. It was understood that those intending to resign are T. G. Duque, minister of finance; A. Robles, minister of agriculture.
Observers say the attitude of these cabinet members reflects the view of the Nationalist Assembly, which has protested to the president against Duncan appearing in the chamber to present his report. Duncan enjoys the confidence of the president, however, and has paid no attention to demands that he resign.

Detroit, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—Detective Edward Barney, of the Detroit police department, and a gunman were wounded fatally in a gun battle here this afternoon. The dead gunman was identified tentatively as Leo Genova.
Police were sent to a residence near the suburb of Highland Park this afternoon after receiving word that the place was a gangster hangout. Barney, recently appointed a detective, rushed the rear door of the house alone. After he entered, shots were heard.
Detectives who followed him found Detective Varney and Genova lying on the floor in a dying condition.

FOUR HURT IN CRASH ON MARYLAND ROAD

Two Brought to Hospitals
Here in Serious Condition After Accident.

WOMAN IS ALSO INJURED

Two persons were brought to Washington hospitals in a serious condition yesterday as a result of an automobile crash near Beltsville, Md. Two more persons, less seriously hurt, also were treated in local institutions.
The seriously injured are Laurie Forsythe, 24 years old, of Wilmington, Del., and Cecil Fernback, 22 years old, of New Orleans. Forsythe has internal injuries, a possible fracture of the spine, shock, several fractured ribs and lacerations of the scalp. He is under treatment at Casualty Hospital. Fernback has a possible fractured skull and is at Emergency.
The other hurt men are John Marston Johnson, 26 years old, also of Wilmington, with lacerations of the hands and face, at Casualty, and Clarence Merson, 21 years old, of Beltsville, Md., at Emergency with lacerations of the left arm and right shoulder. The wounds of neither are thought to be serious.
Merson and Fernback were riding in a car driven by John Merson, also of Beltsville, when the accident occurred. The road is being repaired at that spot and several other accidents were reported in the vicinity during the day.
One of the minor crashes resulted in each of the drivers swearing out a warrant charging the other with reckless driving. Automobiles driven by Albert Miller, colored, of the White-law Hotel, at Thirteenth and T streets northwest, and Frank O. McCarron, of Baltimore, Md., collided on the stretch under repair.
McCarron's wife received lacerations which were pronounced slight, but which would require a few stitches to close. She was treated in a Baltimore hospital. After the men swore out warrants against one another, they were told to appear in Prince Georges County police court at Laurel September 16.

What a Static Wave!

Boston Herald: It may or may not be true that there are 50 men running this country, but it's pretty close to a certainty that there are 50,000,000 who can tell you exactly how it ought to be run.

GAYETY

Reggie White, "Smiling" Jeanne Williams, Boots Rush and Billy Arlington this week have the greatest array of talent that has graced the boards of the Gayety since Jimmy Lakes' inaugural hanna week of Summer Stock Policy. "Smiling" Jeanne Williams, a brunette, came in for much honors yesterday. This Minneapolis doll, in her singing and dancing number, was the recipient of much applause. Back again with her April appearance still in the minds of burlesque fans in the original "Tassie" girl, Reggie White. Reggie, the pride of Baltimore burlesque, has no opposition in her line of work. She stops the show. Boots Rush greeted her friends with the graceful dancing that earned her an eight weeks' stock stay here last season. Laughs created by Arlington, ably aided by Eleanor Cochran, dominate the entire show. A vaudeville couple, Joe and Ernestine, putting over some clever dances, and the 20 Gayety peaches, led by Virginia Wright, add to the "Big Revue."

NEW BELGIAN HEIR BORN TO PRINCESS

event a great crowd surrounded the estate to cheer the prince and his family.

Princess Astrid, who married the heir to the Belgian throne November 4, 1926, is 25 years old. She is the first daughter of Prince Charles of Sweden, brother of the Swedish king, and of Princess Ingeborg.

Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid have another child, Princess Josephine Charlotte, who is nearly 3 years old.

Crown Prince Leopold this morning hastily cancelled his appearance at an unveiling ceremony scheduled in Dinmude this afternoon. This was the first hint that the baby was expected shortly.

News of the event was immediately telephoned to the Crown Prince of Italy, the former Marie Jose, of Belgium, sister of Crown Prince Leopold. Marie Jose herself expects a baby about next January.

VICTIM OF NARCOTIC DIES IN ALEXANDRIA

Found Dying on Shop Floor;
Inquest Will Be Held
This Morning.

POCKET CONTAINS DRUG

A World War veteran, kept alive by his allotment of 10 grains of morphine daily, lost his final battle to keep his racked body alive last night, and died before Alexandria, Va., police could get him to the Alexandria Hospital.

The man, A. F. Bauges, about 48 years old, who ran a small tin shop at 105 South Pitt street, Alexandria, had returned to his shop shortly before he was found in a dying condition, after having been refused more of the drug by doctors, but he had almost 50 grains of morphine in his pocket when he died.

Coroner T. Marshall Jones, of Alexandria, will hold an inquest into the cause of death this morning. He stated last night that the effects of the drug combined with other ailments had probably caused death.

The man was found lying on the floor of his shop by passers-by, who called police.

Police at Alexandria are investigating on the theory that Bauges is the man who, crazed by a desire for more of the drug, broke a plate glass window in a drug store here a few nights ago in an effort to obtain narcotics, but who was scared off when police arrived promptly on the scene.

Saving a Few Statements.

New York Herald Tribune: The failure of the attempt to retire Senator Robinson in Arkansas will be gratifying to all who admire his ability and courage and his refusal to play partisan politics in matters of great national concern, notably the naval treaty. Men of his merit are all too rare in the Senate in either party.

The Ford Truck hauls costs down

IN HAULING supplies on contract, where schedules must be met — or bettered — the Ford 1½-ton truck is prompt and reliable. For this, and for numberless other types of service, the Ford truck offers an additional haulage value, which is economy. It is low in first cost, and low in cost of maintenance.

The way in which fine materials have been incorporated into parts of simple and rugged design is one of the features which increase the ability of the Ford truck to move a load from here to there at a minimum of effort and expense.

Forty different kinds of steel are used, for example. There is no thought, in making the Ford truck, that one or two — or a dozen — kinds of steel will have to serve, if a larger number will give added strength, longer life, or greater reliability.

Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part, and then, through large-scale production, to give it to the public at low cost.

Other features of value are the new spiral bevel gear rear axle; the option of two gear-ratios; 4-speed transmission; provision for power take-off mounting; larger brakes; heavier front axle and spring; dual rear wheels, available at small additional cost; and a chassis of 157-inch wheelbase, for carrying light but bulky loads.

Standard bodies are the platform, stake, panel, and hand and power-operated dump types. Both open and enclosed cabs can be provided. All are equipped with Triplex shatter-proof windshields — an additional safety feature. Go to your Ford dealer and see how well this truck can serve your hauling needs.

DIAL FLASHES

THE unusual opportunity will be given today to the radio audience of hearing the President and Vice President both on the same day, as they participate in the welcome of the French fliers.

One hundred and eighteen stations are expected to broadcast a record of the speech of former Senator James A. Reed on the "March of Monopoly," in what is promised to be the largest "hook-up" of its kind.

When Senator Reed broadcast his monopoly speech last summer, an S O S closed down the Atlantic Coast stations. The S O S came before the senator had finished the section of his speech devoted to the so-called radio trust. A record was made of this part of the speech by the Radio Protective Association, which offered to independent stations throughout the country for rebroadcast.

THE selection of Gen. James G. Harbord, chairman of the New York County Republican advisory committee, to make a speech to-night (WRC, 7 p. m.) attacking Tammany Hall and, indirectly, former Gov. Al Smith, the 1928 presidential aspirant, brings with it the suggestion that the general himself may be a dark horse presidential or vice presidential possibility in case President Hoover does not desire a second term.

MORE INSTALLED BY BUYING URGED AS HELP TO BUSINESS

Deferred Payment System Is Vindicated by Record

WALL STREET "SKY-LINE" OF MARKET TRANSACTIONS

BOND PRICE LEVEL TREASURY OFFERS IS HOLDING STEADY CERTIFICATE ISSUE

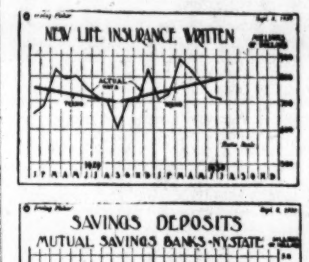

Repossessions During Depression Have Been Found Few—Saving Deposits and Life Insurance Increasing, Showing Thrift.

By IRVING FISHER, Professor of Economics, Yale University.

Special to The Washington Post.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 7.—Further encouragement of installment buying would exert a tonic effect on business. The fact that the largest finance companies of the country have reported no alarming increase in repossessions because of defaulted installment paper indicates a healthy credit condition among the masses, as well as the fact that the depression has not been so severe as some have imagined.

This inference is further justified by the revival of thrift. The volume of life insurance sold throughout the country during the first half of 1930 totaled 3 per cent greater than during the first half of the record year, 1929. Mutual savings bank deposits increased by nearly 300,000 during the first half of 1930, as compared with a loss of $272,766,807 during the last six months of 1929.

In fact, the savings banks are having much about soundly investing their increased funds. If depositors should reduce their holdings of the purchase of durable goods and the installment plan, it would help restore the general price level and further reestablish business confidence.

Expansion Has Been Vindicated.

Meanwhile, the installment credit experience of nine months of major business recession indicates that, far from breaking down during hard times and unemployment, the expansion of this system has been vindicated. The National City Bank of New York has reproduced the figures of outstanding accounts in four of the great automobile finance companies, showing that from June 30, 1929, to June 30, 1930, their total retail notes receivable diminished by less than $1,000,000. Of this year's "current repossessions have been approximately normal and have been very great progress, especially in June, in reducing the number of repossessed cars in our possession, as well as those in possession of dealers who are liquidating their stocks, and also the amount of our paper more than two months past due.

company's president infers that, notwithstanding a diminution in general business activity, the "total volume of the business of the country nevertheless remains large and requires substantial financial service."

Financing Figures Hold Up.

This tallies with statements by Milan V. Ayres, analyst of the National Association of Finance Companies. Mr. Ayres reports that while sales of new automobiles have dropped by 30 per cent, the drop in dollars of installment financing from automobile sales has been only 17 per cent, while the financing of used cars has increased. Likewise, the Federal Bank of Boston reports more than a normal increase in installment sales of all kinds within its district during 1930.

The Middle West Utilities also reports an increase by 9 per cent in installment sales during the first six months of 1930.

Trading on New York Mart Is Steady in Face of Low Quotations.

FOREIGN ISSUES RISING

By E. W. DIEFFENDORF (Irving Fisher Service).

The index of common industrial stocks at 100 last week closed at 112.8, up from 112.5 the week before. Prices were active throughout the week, with a sharp rally that brought the level up by nearly 1 per cent, and the week closed only 0.7 per cent off from the opening level.

The groups of auto accessories, electrical equipment, farm machinery, steel and miscellaneous dropped enough from their opening levels to cause the week's average to show a loss from the preceding week's index. The electrical equipment group closed the week off by 3.5 per cent from the preceding week's close; the farm machinery, off by 2.6 per cent, and steel, off by 1.2 per cent.

The foods, machinery and utility groups closed the week with declines from the preceding week's close by less than 1 per cent each. The weekly index in these groups shows an increase over the preceding week's level, with the gains at the opening and close of last week's session large enough to counteract the midweek losses.

By the University of Chicago, which only 41 per cent of working men as a whole buy on installment, and the outlook for the future is not bright. The stock market is not a speculative investment issue.

Advice to a Widow.

L. F. R.—I am a widow with $5,000 in the bank, part of which I would like to put into a few preferred stocks. What do you recommend?

Answer—Adams Express cumulative preferred, paying $5 in dividends, yielding approximately 5 1/2 per cent, and which last year earned nearly $23 a share, appears to be a desirable investment. The stock applies to American Water Works preferred, which pays $6 and yields approximately 5 1/2 per cent. Earnings on this stock last year amounted to $30.11 per share.

Another attractive issue is General Motors cumulative preferred, paying $5 in dividends and selling to yield about 6 per cent. Earnings on this issue last year were $31.70 a share. These three are high-grade preferred stocks, reasonably priced, and whose earnings are not likely to be affected by a depression. They give a high degree of safety.

Elster Electric.

C. H. S.—I would like to know about the standing of Elster Electric stock on curb market and what the company manufactures.

Answer—Company, a manufacturer of equipment and parts used in production of radio and other tubes, lamps, etc., reported for year ended December 31, 1929, net income equal to $523 a share, compared with $1 a share in 1928. Unofficial reports indicate that earnings for first quarter of 1930 were slightly under $1.15 a share reported in same period of 1929. All these earnings would indicate that yearly dividend of $1.50 is a safe thing. Financial standing of company is good, with net working capital at close of 1929 standing at $879,914. Because of slump in market price of stock, it would appear there may be something in connection with company's affairs that is not publicly known. However, this is purely conjectural and considered strictly from basis of past earnings, stock appears in a satisfactory position marketwise.

Mengol.

J. F. T.—I have been advised to purchase Menlo Co. stock. What are the earnings, and how is the stock regarded?

Answer—Net earnings the first six months this year were three times smaller than those for the first half of 1929, amounting to $210,811. Profits for the period were $1,301.29 cents a share, as against $2.08 for the first half last year. There is considerable doubt as to whether the $2 annual dividend will be covered by this year's earnings. Why buy the stock with this uncertainty facing you?

Tech-Hughes.

S. C.—Can you give me an idea of the earnings of Tech-Hughes?

Answer—Income for the nine months ended August 31, 1929, of 53 cents a share. The gold-mining business has not "seen good, and, as a result, the stock must be considered highly speculative and not suitable from the standpoint of investment.

R. D.—Can you enlighten me regarding the earnings and outlook for American Locomotive?

Answer—Earnings dropped 28 per cent in the first half of 1930. Per

RAILS SHOW WEAKNESS

For the first week in a period of two months the price level of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange did not gain in either the trend or weekly movement, closing last week at 101.85, the same as at close of the preceding week. Slight weakness was displayed in the bond price level, as indicated by a drop of 0.08 per cent from the 1930 peak of 101.87 on August 27 to 101.79 on September 3, from which level prices advanced by 0.04 per cent to the week's close.

PAPER MATURES IN YEAR

(Associated Press.)

An offering of $225,000,000 in 2 3/8 per cent Treasury certificates was announced yesterday by Secretary Mellon for the quarterly Treasury financing on September 15.

COMMUNITY PRICES MAKE GAIN IN WEEK

Rise in Stabilization Process Is Noted in Wholesale Level of Market.

The rise in the wholesale commodity price level last week brought the majority of the group indexes up, with foodstuffs steady, and metal products and building materials dropping by 0.11 and 0.34 per cent, respectively. Bar, wire, tin, turpentine and linseed oil were the outstanding commodities that recorded lower price levels last week. Slight drops were found in wheat, cotton, butter, flour and sugar, while in corn, beef, hogs, potatoes, eggs, short ribs and hams.

The quarterly income tax returns due on September 15 are expected to swell the Treasury balance to insure ample margin for meeting the extra demands.

The new securities will be offered at par and accrued interest and will mature twelve months hence. The Treasury will accept in payment for the new certificates, at par, Treasury certificates of indebtedness of series TS-1930 and Treasury bills dated July 14, 1930, both maturing September 15.

DOLLAR BUYING IS LESS

The largest gains in prices were in the agricultural group, which index rose by 0.58 per cent following a gain of 0.63 per cent in the preceding week. Nonagricultural price levels held steady last week after the gain of 0.57 per cent the preceding week. The purchasing power of farm products rose by 0.56, compared with 0.25 per cent in the preceding week.

Shipping Figures Given In Great Lakes Report

The latest volume in a series of reports known as the "Transportation Series" has just been issued by the Bureau of Operations of the United States Shipping Board. In cooperation with the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors of the War Department, in addition to valuable information, the publication also contains numerous charts, graphs, and illustrations.

Two Italian Towns Shaken by Temblors

Melfi, Italy, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—A brief but sharp earthquake shock was felt here at 10:40 a. m. yesterday. Several buildings already damaged by the quake of July 22 were knocked down, residents rushed to the streets in panic, but no one was injured. A second shock, coming from the north, was felt at Ronero, Friday night. There was no damage, but the people, fearful of a catastrophe, spent the night outdoors.

General Refractories.

D. K. S.—Kindly give me some facts pertaining to General Refractories, and your opinion of the stock as an investment.

Answer—The company has shown marked improvement in recent years. The refractory business is regarded as a depression-proof industry. Earnings have shown an increase in four of the last five years and in 1929 were $6.51 per share, while first quarter of 1930 income showed a new all-time peak. The entire funded debt was retired in 1929, and there being no preferred stock, the entire income is applicable to the common. Profits for 1930 are estimated at $10 per share. General Refractories has an unbroken dividend record of 20 years. The stock, around current price, yields in excess of 6 per cent, and may be considered a speculative investment with considerable holding for the long term.

share profits were $1.10, as against $2.24 for the same time last year. The company is not buying much equipment, and the outlook for the second six months is not expected to bring total earnings for 1930 on a par with those of 1929. In the latter year $5.40 a share was earned on common stock. The $8 dividend was cut to $4 with the payment of $1 a share on June 1. The outlook cannot be regarded as very favorable for a light. The stock must be classed as a speculative investment issue.

Advice to a Widow.

L. F. R.—I am a widow with $5,000 in the bank, part of which I would like to put into a few preferred stocks. What do you recommend?

H. K. T.—What are the dividend prospects for Bohn Aluminum & Brass?

Answer—The stock is to be included in the list of those whose dividend status is regarded as uncertain. Business has not been good and the immediate outlook does not call for any material improvement. The stock is selling within a few points below the $10 figure, because of the uncertainty of the $3 dividend. At current quotations the stock yields 10 per cent. First half year's earnings equaled $1.95 per share as against $3.09 in the first half of 1929. Results for 1929 were $7.43, while income for 1930 is expected to be for first half of this figure. Outlook for the first six months is none too promising because of the decline in operations in the automobile lines.

Davidson Chemical.

H. B. D.—Kindly tell me the source of raw material for Davidson Chemical and how the stock is regarded.

Answer—Davidson Chemical is assured of a plentiful supply of raw material. The company owns a large tract of land in Texas containing great quantities of sulphur-bearing ore, and in Florida, where it obtains phosphate rock. These lands contain reserves sufficient to supply Davidson for years to come. The company also has available a large supply of raw material through a contract with the Rio Tinto Co. of London. Under this contract Davidson and the Pyrites Co., a subsidiary of Rio Tinto, control equally the world supply of pyrites. Earnings for the current fiscal year are estimated around $4 a share, which would place the company in a position of paying something on the common stock.

Dr. Leiva Confident Country Can Remedy Depression in Coffee Mart.

Confidence in his country's ability to remedy depressed conditions in the coffee industry was expressed in an address delivered over the Columbia Broadcasting System yesterday by Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, charge d'affaires of the El Salvador Legation with the United States. He said, "we are most cordially and solidly enthroned." The diplomat's address was in connection with the convocation of a national assembly sponsored by the Columbia chain. He was introduced by Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union.

J. R.—Please give me some facts and an opinion on Yale & Towne.

Answer—Earnings this year have declined sharply. The company has reported earnings of 32 cents a share, as against $2.71 for the first half of 1929. Second quarter results were worse than the first quarter, amounting to 5 cents a share, while income for the third quarter is expected to prove disappointing. For 1929, earnings amounted to $5.31 per share, as contrasted with $4.89 in 1928. Dividends of $4 per annum are paid, but it is a question whether this rate will be continued. Considerable speculation, therefore, attaches to the stock.

GALLANT FOX IN 2 MAJOR RACES BEFORE MEETING

Sande, Luck Have Aided Champion

Woodward Colt Goes to Nursery After Latonia Test.

Sande and Workman as Fighters, Are Good Jockeys.

By J. B. SNOODGRASS.

GALLANT FOX is the best 3-year-old of the year, but he is not a pound or a better than James Butler's Questionnaire. The addition of the Laureate Realization to his winnings Saturday carried him to the pinnacle of great money winners, displacing H. J. Sinclair's Zev by $4,000.

Luck and a good jockey have stood Gallant Fox in hand. Earl Sande won the Realization by a better long-distance rider than Sonny Workman. Sande, on Questionnaire, would have won the race asler than did Sande on Gallant Fox. But this is taking nothing from Mr. Woodward's good 3-year-old, for he has stood up under a campaign which began with his training period in February.

One Defeat Can Not Be Explained.

His one defeat this year in the Travers was not explained except by admitting that he is not a real mudder, or that he had gone back temporarily in his training. Few horses could go through the campaign with his series of victories as has Gallant Fox. He has two more races to run, one in the Jockey Club Gold Cup and the other in the Latonia Championship, and then he will be retired to the nursery, a plan based on good judgment.

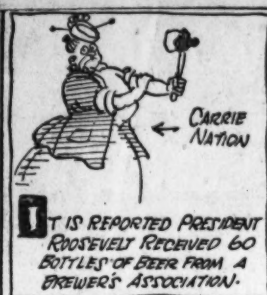

Deserves Illustrious Record.

It is natural to hope that he may round out his career without another defeat, for a horse that has done what Gallant Fox has, deserves the illustrious record that would give him and elevate the thoroughbred. The reported clash with flits between Workman and Sande is regrettable. Neither was out for the fight. Both grace the profession of riding. The race was a bitter one for the jockeys. The better jockey won the race, but it seems that Workman won the encounter, which will pay no dividends.

BELMONT ENTRIES.

FIRST RACE—Five and a half furlongs: Winner, purse, $1,000; the Mollie: 1. Lela Lee, 107-18; 2. Dumbarton, 113-14; 3. Bessie, 113-14; 4. Dumbarton, 113-14; 5. Bessie, 113-14; 6. NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

WIFE OF PRESIDENT
ATTENDS FUNERAL
OF MRS. J. A. GRANT

Mrs. Hoover Represents
Head of Nation at Rites in St. John's Church.

BURIAL IN WEST POINT
FOR GENERAL'S WIDOW

No Service at Interment Beside Coffin of Her Husband.

Formality and pomp were absent at the funeral yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Ida Grant, daughter-in-law of the Civil War general and post-war President, Ulysses S. Grant, who died Friday night at her home, 1711 New Hampshire avenue northwest. The services, which were held at St. John's Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and H streets northwest, were very brief, and the rites of the Episcopal Church only were used. The Rev. Arthur J. Brady, assistant rector of St. John's, was in charge of the service, and T. Guy Lucas, choir-master, directed the music.

Mrs. Hoover, representing the President's family, occupied a seat near members of the Grant family, which included Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Mrs. Ida Grant's son, and Princess Canacene, her daughter, who had been at her mother's bedside for several weeks previous to her death. Other distinguished persons attending included Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President, Mrs. Sumner, wife of Gen. Charles P. Sumner, chief of staff, U. S. A.; Lieut. Gen. and Mrs. Edgar J. J. Grant, and Mrs. J. B. C. Grant, District Commissioner, and Mrs. Crosby.

Body Lies in State.

Following the service the body lay in state in the church until 10 o'clock last night, when it was placed in a special car on the Pennsylvania Railway and taken to West Point, N. Y. Mrs. Grant will be buried by the side of her husband, Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant. No services will be held at the place of burial.

Prince William
Dairymen Elect

J. F. Miller Is Made Head of County Herd Association.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., Sept. 7.—J. F. Miller, of Nokesville, was elected president of the Prince William County Dairy Herd Association yesterday, succeeding Sam C. H. Harris. Mr. Lewis of Manassas was elected vice president, and Elmer Hurst, of Manassas District, secretary-treasurer. Arthur J. Brady was again appointed herd tester.

The annual report of the tester revealed that the butter fat average for all herds was 31.0 pounds. The average pounds of milk for all herds for the past year ended August 31, was 8,282, as against 7,315 pounds during the corresponding period last year.

The three high herds for the year were owned by J. F. Miller, Nokesville; Harley & Kline, Nokesville; and C. C. Conner, Manassas, and C. C. Lynn, Manassas District.

Mystery Fire Damages
Martinsburg Dwelling

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 7.—The frame dwelling of Milton W. Pyles, this city, was burned by fire of unknown origin early yesterday morning. With the home were damaged a collection of antiques, including some old clocks reported of value, and also including what for years served as the town clock here. Mr. Pyles, a former city employee, was given the clock when it was removed, and he kept it in running order. Delay in turning in the alarm for the fire started. First arrival at the scene said they heard groans as of a human being in the blaze, but firemen by frantic work satisfied themselves the house was not occupied at the time. Mr. Pyles was later located in another part of the city.

Week-End Robbers Get
Hagerstown Loot Again

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 7.—Robbers were active for the second consecutive week-end here, breaking into three places some time during Sunday morning.

The heaviest loser was the Dorsey store, where $25 in cash was obtained and a large quantity of merchandise. At the Baltimore & Ohio depot here, $100 in value was secured, and the Bittinger Service Station at Williamsport lost little.

Young Wife Dies
As Car Overturns

Husband Seriously Hurt,
Another Man Injured
in Accident.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Oscar Ambrose, about 19, was instantly killed; her husband, 20, was seriously hurt, and a neighbor, Albert Smith, 35, was injured when an automobile belonging to Mr. Ambrose overturned near Creagers' over last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose and Mr. Smith attended a picnic at Mountain-dale. On their way home, near Le-gore, Md., Mr. Ambrose lost control of the car, and it ran into a stone pile at high speed and upset.

Mrs. Ambrose was hurled some distance, landing on her head. Her neck was broken. Mr. Ambrose and Mr. Smith were injured about the head and body. A passing motorist took Mr. Ambrose to the City Hospital. Physicians expect him to recover.

CANDIDATE

JOSEPH N. STARKEY

Montgomery County surveyor, who is running for the Democratic nomination for reelection on an independent ticket. He is supporting the organization Democrats otherwise.

VOTE INTEREST HIGH
IN PRINCE GEORGES

Results in Primaries Today
Now Considered Highly Problematical.

BOTH PARTIES BALLOT

Belatedly aroused by indications that results in several contests will be highly problematical, public interest rose to a high pitch in Prince Georges County, Md., yesterday on the eve of primary voting for sixteen Democratic nominees and four Republicans.

The Republican ballot, unusually short, lists only candidates for sheriff and five seats on the board of county commissioners. All these candidates are running as independents, as the county organization has decided to withhold endorsement until after the primary.

On the Democratic side interest centers in the struggle for county commission seats and the office of State's attorney. William P. Magruder, of Hyattsville, and Thomas M. Miller, of Nokesville, are the two candidates for county commissioner, while Mr. E. Brown, Francis H. Crown, Walter M. Grimes and Ormand W. Phair, of Hyattsville, are the four candidates for State's attorney.

William P. Magruder, in a statement last night, predicted that either he or Thomas M. Miller, both of whom are independent candidates for the Democratic nomination as county commissioner, had at any time opposed Mrs. Mary W. Browning as a fellow member of the board of county commissioners. Mr. Magruder produced a printed notice which bore the names of candidates he endorsed in the primary race and pointed out that Mrs. Browning's name appeared even before his own or Mr. Miller's on the ticket.

Printed Charge Brings Reply.

The denial was brought forth by published reports that the Democratic Women's Club of Chillum District, which has elected Mrs. Browning as its president, had at any time opposed Mrs. Mary W. Browning as a fellow member of the board of county commissioners. Mr. Magruder produced a printed notice which bore the names of candidates he endorsed in the primary race and pointed out that Mrs. Browning's name appeared even before his own or Mr. Miller's on the ticket.

POLLS FIGHT MAPPED
BY FAIRFAX G. O. P.

Party Expresses Belief That County Is Ready for New Regime.

CARNIVAL OPENS TODAY

FAIRFAX COUNTY, Va., Sept. 7.—The annual county fair, which opens today at the home of Dr. F. M. Brooks, near Fairfax, Dr. Brooks is the Republican candidate for the United States House of Representatives from the Eighth Virginia Congressional District. He will oppose the Democratic nominee, Judge Howard W. Smith, in the general election in November. There was a general feeling of optimism among the leaders at the meeting. They stated that they believed the electorate of the Eighth District was ready for a change in leadership, and that there was a great advantage in sending a man to Congress who is of the same party as the administration.

Plans were made for a meeting of the chairman and full committee in each county. They planned to organize a corps of active workers in each precinct of all counties in the district. Dr. Brooks' home is in Fairfax county, which appears to be the chief battleground of the coming campaign. The Republicans have carried it in the past two general elections.

County leaders state that from the sentiment already expressed by the electorate as to the means used in the Democratic primary in August, they believe the Democratic officials at the Fairfax County courthouse have already held the reins of the county fair to the voters' best interests of the citizens of the county.

Dr. Brooks will make a trip to Louisa County today to meet with the party leaders of the county in regard to the organization there. Among the present speakers at the meeting tonight were Leon L. Freeman, campaign manager for Dr. Brooks, Maj. Richard R. Phair, secretary of the Fairfax County Democratic Committee, H. H. Sager, chairman of the party's publicity committee, J. Sidney Wiley, of Lawton, and Robert Stump, of Fairfax.

The volunteers' class of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Elton R. Holbrook on Cedar street.

The School and Civic League of McLean will hold its meeting in the auditorium of the Washington School. The members will discuss plans for the continuing of improvements to the school ground this fall.

The Young Peoples' Missionary Society of Arlington will hold a business meeting tonight in Robey Hall. Plans for conducting the night at the county fair this week will be discussed.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Fairfax County Fair, which opens today, will be the demonstration of the 4-H and Home Demonstration Clubs under the direction of Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County agent. Each of five women's home demonstration clubs in the county will prepare a booth illustrating their work. The project is to be a meal planning. The Annandale women on Friday will demonstrate inexpensive gift planning. Clifton will demonstrate the use of the kitchen.

Teams from the various 4-H Clubs will work half a day on Saturday. The club includes Annandale with simple cookies, and Lincolnia with fruit drinks. Wednesday afternoon, Vienna's cakes and icing Thursday morning, with Herndon on whole wheat muffins. Friday morning, Colvin Run will demonstrate salads and McLean frozen desserts. Potomac will serve sandwiches Friday afternoon. Clifton will demonstrate milk drinks and Lorton whole-wheat biscuits Saturday morning. Vienna will demonstrate the use of the kitchen.

The congregation of the St. James Catholic Church at East Falls Church will open its carnival this evening at 7 o'clock. It will continue all week. Plans have been completed and everything is in readiness for tonight. The carnival will be held in the school building adjoining the St. James School, which will be decorated and brightly lighted. The chairman of the carnival is the Rev. Fr. Charles Whalen, S. J., buying the Rev. James Widner, publicity. Thomas Prober, game stove; Miss Edna May, candy; Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, cake; Mrs. Whalen, grab bag; Thomas Ballard, Jr., soft drinks; Edward Jones and Charles Whalen, Jr., candy; William Fox, ice cream; Mrs. Eugene Shreve, cakes, Frank Crimmins, David Patterson, Martin Cooke, Dixon Beattie and Eugene Shreve, dancing; Mrs. Daniel Brown, Miss Elizabeth Brown, William Fox, Harry McGinnis and Mrs. David Patterson, coffee and sandwiches; Z. B. Broome, dancing; Miss Gladys Ballard and Miss Marie Crimmins, special posters; Thomas Ballard, Jr., games, and Mrs. E. H. Schofield, blankets.

The Old Glory Council, Daughters of America, will hold a special meeting this afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. O. B. Livingston, to formulate a program for the winter work of the association, as no regular meeting of the entire association will be held until October.

Y. M. C. A. Worker Resigns Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 7.—(Special)—George T. Spence, of Philadelphia, physical director at the Y. M. C. A. here for more than a year, announced his resignation today to accept work as assistant recreational director in the Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Y. M. C. A., effective October 1. Mr. Spence came here from work at Gettysburg, Pa. No successor for the work here has been named.

The executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association at Falls Church will hold a special meeting this afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. O. B. Livingston, to formulate a program for the winter work of the association, as no regular meeting of the entire association will be held until October.

Speaks at Unveiling Prior to Opening of Convention
Today in Harrisonburg.

1,500 ATTEND CEREMONY

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Sept. 7.—In making "our democracy safe for the world," World War veterans must meet the challenge of communistic influences just as effectively as they stemmed the German hordes. Representative Jacob A. Garber, of the Seventh Virginia District, today told Virginia members of the American Legion, assembling here for the tenth annual convention, which opens tomorrow.

A throng of 1,500 persons, including the veterans, gathered for the unveiling of a memorial to Sgt. Harry Bruce, the first Rockingham County man who lost his life in the World War, and seven of his east Rockingham neighbors who made the supreme sacrifice. GRAND JURY HEAR
SMOKE COMPLAINTS

Alexandria Citizens Will Make Charges Against Power Company.

PETITION SIGNED BY 75

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 423.

Definite action in their long fight against the alleged smoke nuisance created by the power plant of the Virginia Public Service Co., is hoped for by citizens of the southeastern section of the city, when their petition is brought before the grand jury which meets tomorrow.

More than 75 residents of the section affected by the smoke have signed the petition which was filed with the clerk of the courts a few days ago. Many of these petitioners will appear before the jury to testify as to damage done homes by the smoke. Owners of cars along the waterfront are also expected to tell how their boats are constantly being damaged by the smoke and cinders.

City council has discussed the matter on several occasions in the past and each time has conferred with officials of the electric company and have reported that relief was promised. At the last meeting of council, held Thursday, Councilman Thomas J. Pannon again brought the matter up and City Manager Wallace Lawrence was directed to see the V. P. S. Co. officials again.

The petition is the outgrowth of a long fight by First Ward residents to have something done about the smoke which they claim pours from the stacks of the power plant located at the foot of Wolfe street and ruins their homes. Attorney John W. Brookfield, Jr., will represent the petitioners.

The grand jury, which meets before Judge William P. Woods, will also have to consider evidence in about twenty criminal cases, including principally charges of grand larceny, housebreaking and felonious assault. It may be that the case of the Rockingham County man who was charged with the murder of Patrolman A. Perry Pierce in a gun duel yesterday morning, may also come before the jury.

George Hunter Lacey, 65, of Balleys Cross Roads, died at his home yesterday afternoon. He was a widower, survived by four sons, three daughters, three brothers and three sisters.

Regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held tonight at the George Mason Hotel. Dan S. Hollenka, business manager, will report on the activities of the chamber over the past month.

Investigation by local police into the cause of the fatal shooting Thursday afternoon, when a fire engine overturned and Patrolman Whitely was killed, is being continued. Patrolman Whitely was reported at the inquest by Coroner T. Marshall Jones will call just after 10 o'clock. Patrolmen Brown, two of the three men injured, are able to testify. Cockrell and Brown are still confined to the hospital, where they are reported convalescing.

Capt. and Mrs. Hopkins have arrived here to take charge of the work of the Salvation Army. They come from Northeast Washington, where they have been stationed for the last three years.

Delegates and alternates to attend the annual encampment of the Confederate Veterans and Sons of Confederate Veterans, to be held in Orlando, Fla., will be held at meetings of the two organizations to be held this evening in Lee Camp Hall.

A large delegation of members of the local post of the American Legion, together with members of the Bugle Corps and the Ladies Auxiliary left yesterday for Harrisonburg, Va., to attend the State convention which opened in that city yesterday afternoon.

More than 70 former members of the Cherrydale Baptist Church attended services yesterday in the auditorium of the Cherrydale firemen's hall. The break in the congregation followed the prayer meeting on the night of August 20 when the dispute between the pastor, the Rev. Elmer Lucas, and H. Stewart Potter, superintendent of the Sunday School, came to light. The services yesterday were conducted by Mr. Lucas.

Preceding the church services, Sunday School was held in the men's Bible class, which was conducted by the pastor, there were fourteen men, and eleven women in the women's Bible class, conducted by Mrs. Frances Bell. It was stated last night that the combined collection amounted to $70.

Services were held again last night and were well attended. Plans are being made to hold services each week in the firemen's hall until it is determined whether there will be in Cherrydale another Baptist Church.

Those who have been named to conduct the work of the congregation until it shall be determined if a permanent organization shall be effected are: A. B. Honts, treasurer; Edward Jansen, superintendent of the Sunday school; Mrs. J. E. Rubel, in charge of the beginners' department; Mrs. Edward Jansen and Miss Dorothy Compton, in charge of the primary department; Mrs. Mosley and Mrs. Elmer Lucas, in charge of the junior department; Miss Ruby Horsman, in charge of the intermediate department; Mrs. Lucas, in charge of the men's Bible class, and Mrs. Frances Bell, in charge of the women's Bible class.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, and mass will be said at St. Francis De Sales Church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

The men's stories of where Gill had been rowing in the river about 2 o'clock yesterday morning suddenly Gill, without cause or reason, jumped into the water and was last seen sinking, they reported.

The men's stories of where Gill went down conflicted, one saying that it was near the new Memorial Bridge, and the other saying that it was near the gas plant, nearly a mile away. Police boats dragged in both spots, however, but without success, and the search was called off.

Pastor Says 'Jesus'
Life Appeals to All

Temple Heights Service of Masons Addressed
by Dr. Councillor.

Dr. Homer J. Councillor, assistant pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, addressed a large audience on Temple Heights yesterday afternoon, in the course of the regular services the Masons of the District have been holding there all summer. Speaking on "The Universal Appeal of Jesus," he spoke, in part, as follows:

"Men may differ as to the application of the teachings of Jesus, but among educated men there can be no difference of opinion as to the uniqueness of His character. He stands a solitary figure, unapproached by any one among those who either preceded or followed Him. The centuries have not dimmed His greatness. Rather they seem to have given the perspective necessary for real appreciation of His matchless qualities. So largely has He entered into the thinking and living in our day that we declare that we live in the 'Christian Era.'"

The appeal made by His life upon the great universal, the tiny human being in the twilight upon his mother's knee—loves to His name, and sings in the joy of utter abandon. The old man looking back over years crowded with activities declares 'He is the light of my life, in Him will I trust.'"

"He is the Christ of the Indian Road as Stanley Jones describes Him, at the same time the Christ of industrial America."

"His universal appeal to men of every nation, every age and every walk of life is perhaps explained by the fact that He lived a universal life. He spoke in the language understood by every one—the language of sympathy, understanding, of love. He mingled His tears in the cup of common sorrow; He struggled as we struggle; He walked the dark paths as well as the open roads of the 'Christian Era.'"

"Jesus suffered the pinching limitations of poverty. It requires no great imagination to picture the effect of this poverty upon His early years. Indeed, the hurt, or at least the consciousness of it, seems to have lasted almost to the end. If you remember, in those last days He said: 'The foxes have holes and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has not where to lay his head.'"

Quite paradoxical as it may seem, Jesus also knew the pull of popularity. He was thrust toward Him by a crowd as well as toward Him by a village, transformed her life. No wonder His life appeals. Weariness is common to all of men, and Jesus understood and rose above it. Unjust, unwarranted criticism was heaped upon Him. He was rejected by the people of his own land and of the world. He was betrayed, by those He loved. His heart cried out for understanding companionship. He never understood a word of the garden of Gethsemane. 'Couldst thou not watch one hour?' And here are the torches of the Roman guard with Judas Iscariot, the betrayer, who must pay for standing for principle and He paid it. The cross of Calvary was lifted by Roman soldiers as an instrument of punishment, a sign of degradation. Jesus made it a throne from which to rule the world. A throne won by sacrifice and love. He died to make his people hold Him. Victorious. He met man's most dread foe.

Today He calls all men to share with Him. He knows the way of ship and His leadership. His appeal is universal. His touch upon life is equally universal. His understanding is world-wide and His love is without limit. God grant that we may all share with Him in the strength of His life and the victory of His death.

Church Dissenters Family Vacation.

Seventy Cherrydale Baptist Attend After Dispute Between Leaders.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stone Discover Loss on Return to Silver Spring.

GROUP MAY ORGANIZE FINGERPRINTS ARE FOUND

Returning from a vacation in Massachusetts Saturday, Charles F. Stone, vice president of the Fairfax Temperance Union, discovered that his home in Silver Spring had been entered and ransacked. Nothing of great value is thought to be missing, however, all silverware and like articles being in storage in Washington.

Entrance to the house was gained by breaking open a window, and there was evidence that the thieves had spent some time in the house. Sgt. Guy Jones, of the Montgomery County police, investigated the crime and discovered fingerprints on several objects handled by the thieves.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone had been vacationing in Nonquitt, Me. It is thought likely that the thieves had read in the papers of the absence of the family, who were away for a month, and took advantage of it.

Mr. Stone is a personal friend of Col. Charles of Stone & Francis, a well-known aviator here. The two attended the Friends' School together here in their boyhood.

Boys' Theft Ring Held Broken Up by Arrests

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 7 (N.Y. N.S.).—With the arrest in Philadelphia yesterday of the alleged ring leader and the recovery of most of the loot in pawn shops in that city, police of Atlantic City, Margate, Ventnor and Longport believe they have broken up a juvenile theft gang which has been active in these resorts throughout the summer.

Five other members of the ring, whose ages range from 13 to 19, have been arrested previously, and, according to police, have confessed to burglaries in 25 apartments.

Deaths Reported.
